Student Artist At Work

Susan Weatherly (far left), daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mark G. Weatherly, is a junior at Appomattox County High School, but each school morning she devotes time to the library at the Intermediate School. She designed and colored the "Good Grooming" interest center (above) where eighth graders Mike Chenault, Joey Bondurant and Michael Wright and others can see Susan's artwork together with filmstrips, booklets and records on the subject of grooming. Newest project is a large-scale mural for the library depicting studies and extra-curricular interests of the students there. Mrs. R. B. Parris, librarian, says that Susan's skills as an artist have made the library more attractive, have added to students' knowledge and probably have inspired other students to pick up sketch book or brush and paint to try out a few artistic ideas, too.
